

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased.

There are many reasons for this. One is that the world's population has grown very fast. Another is that the rich countries have not helped the poor countries enough.

But there is one more reason. The rich countries have not helped the poor countries enough. They have not helped them to develop their own economies and to create jobs for their people.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem.

We need to find ways to help the poor countries. We need to help them to develop their own economies and to create jobs for their people.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.

But the best way is to help them to help themselves. We need to help them to create jobs for their people and to develop their own economies.

So, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased. And this is a very serious problem. We need to find ways to help the poor countries.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to give them money. Another way is to give them technical help.