

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age has increased by 1.2 billion, from 1.1 billion in 1980 to 2.3 billion in 1999. The number of people aged 15 years and over has increased by 1.1 billion, from 1.1 billion in 1980 to 2.2 billion in 1999. The number of people aged 65 years and over has increased by 0.2 billion, from 0.2 billion in 1980 to 0.4 billion in 1999.

There are a number of factors that have contributed to the increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age. One of the main factors is the decline in the death rate, which has led to a significant increase in the number of people who survive into adulthood. Another factor is the increase in the number of people who are having children, which has led to a significant increase in the number of people who are born.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age has a number of implications for the world's population. One of the main implications is that it will lead to a significant increase in the number of people who are dependent on others for their support. This will have a significant impact on the world's economy and on the world's environment.

Another implication is that it will lead to a significant increase in the number of people who are in need of education and training. This will have a significant impact on the world's economy and on the world's environment. It will also have a significant impact on the world's culture and on the world's politics.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is a significant challenge for the world's population. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is a significant challenge for the world's population. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is a significant challenge for the world's population. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is a significant challenge for the world's population. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address.

The increase in the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age is a significant challenge for the world's population. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address. It is a challenge that will require a significant effort to address.